

BCJ LEARN

Platform Overview

Prepared for BCJ Building Services

June 2026

Confidential - for internal use

Contents

1	What is BCJ Learn?
2	The three roles
3	Markets
4	The module lifecycle (end to end)
5	Key rules everyone should know
6	Where things live (quick map)
7	Language

What this platform is, who uses it, and how a module goes from idea to a passed quiz and a certificate.

What is BCJ Learn?

BCJ Learn is BCJ Building Services' internal training platform. It turns the company's standards into structured modules that employees learn in a live seminar, then prove they understood by passing an on-site quiz. Leadership gets live reporting on who has trained, who passed, and who needs help.

Leadership's live program overview

One module is delivered per month (June-October 2026), starting with Operations & Leadership.

The platform handles the whole training lifecycle in one place:

1. An Admin (or a Department Lead) builds a module: learning content + an AI-drafted quiz.
2. Employees are invited and a seminar is scheduled.
3. On seminar day the Department Lead presents the material live.
4. When the seminar ends, employees take the quiz on their own device.
5. Pass (85%+) → they're done and get a certificate. Fail → an automatic retake is scheduled.
6. Leadership watches it all on dashboards and reports.

The three roles

Role	Who	What they do
Admin	BCJ leadership (e.g. Nancy)	Full control: create/manage modules, people, resources, reports, branding, certificate, settings. Sees everything.
Department Lead	The trainer who owns a module (internally also called "manager"/"teacher" in places)	Builds & presents modules and reviews questions. Sees every module , but only edits the ones they own ; their My team and per-module results are scoped to their own modules. Can also take a quiz themselves.
Employee	The people being trained (internally "manager")	Attend the seminar, take the quiz, view resources, track their progress, earn certificates.

Roles are set when a person is invited. A Department Lead can see every module (present it, take it, view results) but only edits the ones they own. An Employee only sees the modules they've been invited to - publishing alone is not enough.

Markets

BCJ groups people by their hub market: Atlanta, Nashville, Charlotte. Every employee belongs to one or more markets. Markets are used to target who gets a seminar, who a resource is assigned to, and to slice reports.

The module lifecycle (end to end)

Key rules everyone should know

- Invited-only access: an employee only sees - and can take - a module they've been invited to (added to its roster). Publishing a module does not expose it to the whole company. Department Leads and Admins see every module. Adding someone to a module's roster gives them access immediately.
- Passing score: 85% (configurable per module). Below that = fail.
- 3 strikes: an employee gets up to 3 attempts total (1 first attempt + 2 retakes). After the 3rd failed attempt the module locks and the Department Lead/Admin is notified to coach them.

- Same questions for everyone: on the first attempt every employee gets the same question set, just in a randomised order (and options shuffled). Retakes use the same concepts, reworded.
- Content is open before the seminar: employees can preview a module's learning content any time as pre-study. The quiz stays locked until the seminar (check-in + the Lead ending the session).
- Required resources (acknowledgement): if a module has linked resources marked "Acknowledgement required," the employee must read and sign them before the quiz unlocks.
- Annual refresher: after passing, BCJ recommends re-taking once a year; the platform shows a refresher due date.
- Certificate: issued automatically on pass; the employee can print it or save it as a PDF. Its wording/signatory is fully customisable by an Admin.

Where things live (quick map)

Admin - Dashboard · Modules · Resources · Question library · People (Employees / Department Leads / Admins) · At-risk · Test results · Reports · Audit log · Notifications · Settings (Branding, Certificate) · Help

Department Lead - Dashboard · My Modules · Resources · Test results · Question library · My team · My Progress · Help

Employee - Dashboard · Modules · Resources · My Progress · Notifications · My Profile (language toggle) · Help

Language

The screenshot displays the BCJ Manager training dashboard. On the left is a sidebar with navigation links: Dashboard, Modules, Resources, My Progress, and Help. The main content area is titled 'Your training dashboard' and includes a search bar at the top. A large green box highlights a completed module: 'You scored 100% on HR: Core Values, Culture, HR and our People'. It notes that no retake is needed and shows the pass date as Jun 17, 2026, with a refresher due on Jun 17, 2027. To the right, a circular progress indicator shows '100% Program complete'. Below this, a button links to 'Open HR: Core Values, Culture, HR and our People materials'. A section titled 'Your 5-module program' shows a list of modules, with the first one, 'HR: Core Values, Culture, HR and our People', marked as '100% passed'. At the bottom, there are sections for 'Your recent activity' and 'Your stats'. The user is logged in as 'manager'.

Employees switch between English and Español in one tap

Employees can switch the whole employee experience between English and Español from their profile. Quiz questions are translated to Spanish (AI-assisted, reviewed) and shown in the chosen language; if a translation isn't ready, the English version is shown so the quiz always works. Admin and Department-Lead screens are in English.

Next: read the guide for your role - Admin, Department Lead, or Employee - and the FAQ for quick answers.