

BCJ Learn — Platform Overview

What this platform is, who uses it, and how a module goes from idea to a passed quiz and a certificate.

What is BCJ Learn?

BCJ Learn is BCJ Building Services' internal training platform. It turns the company's standards into structured modules that employees learn in a live seminar, then prove they understood by passing an on-site quiz. Leadership gets live reporting on who has trained, who passed, and who needs help.

One module is delivered per month (June–October 2026), starting with Operations & Leadership.

The platform handles the whole training lifecycle in one place:

1. An Admin (or a Department Lead) builds a module: learning content + an AI-drafted quiz.
2. Employees are invited and a seminar is scheduled.
3. On seminar day the Department Lead presents the material live.
4. When the seminar ends, employees take the quiz on their own device.
5. Pass (85%+) → they're done and get a certificate. Fail → an automatic retake is scheduled.
6. Leadership watches it all on dashboards and reports.

The three roles

Role	Who	What they do
Admin	BCJ leadership (e.g. Nancy)	Full control: create/manage modules, people, resources, reports, branding, certificate, settings. Sees everything.
Department Lead	The trainer who owns a module (internally also called "manager"/"teacher" in places)	Builds & presents their own modules, reviews questions, sees results for their modules only.
Employee	The people being trained (internally "manager")	Attend the seminar, take the quiz, view resources, track their progress, earn certificates.

Roles are set when a person is invited. A Department Lead only ever sees the modules they own; an Employee only sees published modules assigned to them.

Markets

BCJ groups people by their hub market: Atlanta, Nashville, Charlotte. Every employee belongs to one or more markets. Markets are used to target who gets a seminar, who a resource is assigned to, and to slice reports.

The module lifecycle (end to end)

Key rules everyone should know

- Passing score: 85% (configurable per module). Below that = fail.
- 3 strikes: an employee gets up to 3 attempts total (1 first attempt + 2 retakes). After the 3rd failed attempt the module locks and the Department Lead/Admin is notified to coach them.
- Same questions for everyone: on the first attempt every employee gets the same question set, just in a randomised order (and options shuffled). Retakes use the same concepts, reworded.
- Content is open before the seminar: employees can preview a module's learning content any time as pre-study. The quiz stays locked until the seminar (check-in + the Lead ending the session).
- Required resources (acknowledgement): if a module has linked resources marked "Acknowledgement required," the employee must read and sign them before the quiz unlocks.
- Annual refresher: after passing, BCJ recommends re-taking once a year; the platform shows a refresher due date.
- Certificate: issued automatically on pass; the employee can print it or save it as a PDF. Its wording/signatory is fully customisable by an Admin.

Where things live (quick map)

Admin — Dashboard · Modules · Resources · Question library · People (Employees / Department Leads / Admins) · At-risk · Test results · Reports · Audit log · Notifications · Settings (Branding, Certificate) · Help

Department Lead — Dashboard · My Modules · Test results · Question library · My team · Help

Employee — Dashboard · Modules · Resources · My Progress · Notifications · My Profile (language toggle) · Help

Language

Employees can switch the whole employee experience between English and Español from their profile. Quiz questions are translated to Spanish (AI-assisted, reviewed) and shown in the chosen language; if a translation isn't ready, the English version is shown so the quiz always works. Admin and Department-Lead screens are in English.

Next: read the guide for your role — Admin, Department Lead, or Employee — and the FAQ for quick answers.